NEWPORT EXOTIC GARDEN.
WHERE can I find it? is sometimes asked by strangers, but never by old visitors.
Now is the time to secure your bedding plants. We never before had such a quantity and never such fine plants as this season, consisting of all the new and rare plants. All we desire, is to come and look and see for yourselves. Roses, Dracenias, Centaurias, Geraniums of all sorts, Carnations, Coleous, &c., all of these by the hundred or thousand. Hundreds of other varieties of bedding and foliage plants, all at low rates. Baskets, Stands, Vases, Jardinieres. A fine lot of Ferns, Begonias, Caladiums, Palms, Euphorbias, Camelias and Azalias, Rose Buds by the hundred, and everything pertaining to a first-class Horticultural Establishment. All orders received this season for Boquets, Baskets, Cut Flowers, and decorations for parties and weddings, received at the garden, as we have vacated our store on Bellevue av., to avoid extortionate rent, which we save by doing all our business at the greenhouses and which our patrons will have the benefit of. Trees of various sorts to be found in addition to the above. Galvin & Geraghty, Dearborn and Spring streets, Newport, R. I. my5

BRUTE MIND.

EXTRAORDINARY INSTANCES OF ANIMAL INTELLIGENCE.—A SMART, BUT DISHONEST COW.—INGENUITY OF A BEE.—A NEW USE FOR RATS' TAILS.

The intelligence of animals is the most remarkable where experience seems to lead to the formation of a future plan, and to suit itself to circumstances, as in the case of the cow, which having strayed into a carelessly open granary, continued its visits by contriving to draw the bolt with its horn, till it was found necessary to change the fastening. Such newly excited actions of the mind amount to invention. The Arctic foxes undermine and throw down the poles on which flesh is hung to keep it out of their reach. Gleditsch saw a burying sylph engaged in burying the body of a frog through which a stick had been thrust, and finding the stick to interfere with the process, set to work and buried the stick also. A large garden spider which was constructing its web between two fruit trees, having failed in repeated efforts to attach one of the main threads as it wished, made it at last fast to a small stone, which it raised so high from the ground that ordinary sized people could pass under it without touching.

Halliday mentions a mason bee, which had built its nest on a wall close to a window generally closed with a shutter, but which, when thrown back, lay so close to the wall that the nest was completely shut in; to prevent this occurrence, it formed a little lump of clay, which hindered the shutter from fitting tight to the wall, and which it renewed as often as it was removed. Jesse recounts the circumstance of some rats destroying the bladder fastened over the nose of an oil bottle, and making free with the oil by dipping their tails in it and licking it off. Dr. Pelican saw some rats engaged in the same manner round the bung hole of a cask of wine. The same principle of adapting a means to arrive at an end was carried a degree further because of a foreign agency being employed, by the dog which threw stones into a well, and the fox which dropped them into the neck of the pitcher in order to get at the water. Thus, also, with the monkey which Degrandpre put to the proof, by leaving on the table an open bottle of aniseed brandy, from which the monkey extracted with its fingers and tongue as much as it could manage to reach, and then poured sand into the bottle till the liquor ran over.

Cuvier relates the anecdote of an orang-outang in the menagerie at Paris, which was in the habit of opening the door leading to the dining room, the lock of which was out of its reach, by lowering itself from a rope fastened to the ceiling; to stop which the cord was shortened by means of several knots, but the animal, seeing the reason, and at the same time perceiving that by hanging beneath them, he drew them tighter by his weight, he climbed above them and loosened them with ease. It also unlocked a door by trying every key in the bunch till it found the right one, and if the lock was too high, it fetched a stool and mounted on it. Lucret saw a monkey escape from its cage, run through a gallery and bolt the door after it, and then conceal itself in a closet from which it first took the key. Cuvier, again, describes a monkey that drew out the claws which had scratched it.

Buffon had a cat which, when it wished to leave his room, sprang on a table standing near the door, and, pressing on the handle, managed to open it. Animals often shape their conduct according to the experience they have learned from the acts of other animals. Le Vaillant's monkey, when tired, used to jump on the back of the dogs and ride; but one of them objecting to this mode of horsemanship stood still as soon as the monkey had taken his seat, knowing that from the fear of being left behind and of losing the caravan, it would immediately run off.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN.

Most persons in this country or in Europe who have heard of Lookout Mountain since "the war" have also been told of the "battle above the clouds." It was my fortune to scale the remarkable palisade at a time when the broad plateau which runs along its summit was literally enshrouded in formidable mists. The rain was falling in torrents as, with two companions, I galloped through the little town at the foot of the mountain, but, ere we had scaled the winding road, the shower was over, and a brisk wind began to stir the mists. We could see little but the ledges along whose sides the route ran, but as we arrived nearly at the summit, the mist curtain was lifted for an instant, and revealed to us a delicious expanse of valley, with sunlight smiles here and there chasing away the rain's tears. Then we were shrouded in again, and our horses, apparently inspired by the gloomy grandeur of the occasion, rattled furiously along the hard roads, over which the boughs hung uncomfortably near our heads. The red sandy clay nourishes enormous pines, whose roots have here and there been disturbed by the sandstone boulders, and stretched out their fibres in a desperate grasp; along the pathways great stone, carved by the storms and polished by the winds, are scattered. We galloped nearly to the perpendicular wall which arises directly out of the valley, and disdainfully frowns down upon the Tennessee, spurned from its base fourteen hundred feet below; and tethering our horses, approached to the very edge. There we seemed shut off from all the world. Now and then a hum from the valley—the faint growl of a locomotive or the rolling of wheels—came faintly up; we heard the cowbells and the bleating of the sheep on the hillsides behind us; and just as we were trying to imagine how "the battle" must have been, the wind came sweeping away the mist curtain, and—we beheld the whole!—[Edward King: "Southern Mountain Rambles" Scribner's for May.

Mme. de Metternich has returned to Paris, the realm of "Chiffons" rejoices at the advent of its queen. Never pretty, but always elegant, stylish and attractive, even when she frankly displays her skeleton (being the thinnest of mortals) in the most decollete of ball dresses; often wild, foolish and outré, but always the great lady even in her maddest caprices. Witty as she is, she often meets her match. One day a gentleman trod on the skirt of her dress, which was as conspicuously ample, as the waist of it was the reverse. She turned towards him with the outrageously stingy phrase of "Fichu! maladroit!" (the douce, you awkward fellow!) "Madame la Princesse," said the gentleman, bowing, "that 'fichu' would be more appropriate on your shoulders than in your mouth."

THE DAY.

A friend calls our attention to the fact that in refusing to call to order the Arkansas house of representatives at the request of Gov. (?) Baxter Mr. Tankersley shows such marked disrespect to "Baxter's Call" that his religious views must be considered seriously heterodox.

Gov. Dix has signified his approval of a bill to compel persons practising medicine to obtain a license from county medical societies under certain penalties. It is intended to protect the public from medical charlatans as county societies are only to issue the license upon a diploma or after examination. Such a law would be of great use in the West. There are towns in Michigan, Illinois and other Western states in which a large majority of the practitioners are not graduates of any medical school.

NEWPORT CORRESPONDENCE.

It is one of the troubles of public men that they are perpetually written about by men who know nothing of them and care less and the fame of this, the most beautiful of American watering places, occasionally attracts some Bohemian afflicted with the rabies scribendi who stops here over one train and then proceeds to "write up" Newport. Many of the so-called correspondents have their own financial or personal axes to grind and the results are often more satisfactory to the writer than to any one else. Some real estate bull circulates the report that the rush to Newport this season is so overwhelming that not a house can be hired now and a real estate bear "sees him" by writing to some newspaper that nobody is coming here, houses are to let for a song and corner lots are given away.

But of all correspondence that we ever saw commend us, for richness, to the letters written from Newport to the Boston Saturday Evening Express. That paper is welcome to this advertisement. The first letter we paid no attention to, confident that another such would not be allowed to appear in the Express. But in the last number of that paper is a second letter which decidedly surpasses the author's first attempt. We have heard of the queen's English and the dean's English, but whose English this is we know not. The letter opens thus:

The floating palace steamer Bristol, A. G. Simmons, commander, which is 60 feet above the water line; this steamer, together with the Providence, B. M. Simmons, commander, there is nothing afloat equal to them in size, style and beauty, (excepting the Great Eastern), but in true beauty, even the frescoing of their wheel-houses, are above description, which are partially imitations of spotted marble columns, relieved by as many colors as the "rainbow."

Whether Capt. Simmons stands sixty feet above the water line, or whether the Bristol floats through the air twenty yards above the surface of the briny deep, is not clear. But the writer's delicate appreciation of frescoed wheelhouses convinces us that he has a soul above syntax and ought to be an art connoisseur at Rome. After some description of the quarter deck and the state rooms the writer says:

Hold up? when in smooth water, either end being filled with fine corkwood, a sufficient quantity of life boats, which are being much improved by the application of Mr. James Mahony's patent self adjusting apparatus, which is in itself so simple that a woman can cast off the boat immediately on touching the water; also, one of Conklin's life rafts.

We waive the question as to what is to hold up what, but we would like to know what ends of what are filled with corkwood and improved lifeboats and why they should be so filled in smooth water rather than in rough water and in behalf of the female sex we indignantly repudiate the insinuation that a woman needs Mr. Mahony's ingenuity to assist her in casting off a boat or anything else immediately on touching the water.

We are furthermore informed that "The fleet of this line consists of 10 boats, all of which, the keel below its water line to the golden ball of the topmasts are under the supervisorship of the chief engineer and master mechanic of the line, Mr. James Mahony, who is not excelled by any in his line of business." It is with a feeling of relief that we learn that these steamers have "the keel below its water line." We have known vessels to get their keels above their water lines, but there is no advantage about this plan and it makes the state rooms uncomfortably damp. The writer adds in justice to Mr. Conna, the company's foreman, that "all orders given by him are equal, (subject only to Mr. Mahony's.) He has no superior as a marine workman or otherwise to the west of the city." As "marine workman or otherwise" includes everything and "to the west of the city" covers ninety nine per cent. of this continent Mr. Cenna can consider this a compliment of enormous dimensions.

The correspondent is equally felicitous in his use of language when he steps off the Narragansett steamers and plants himself on terra firma. We are told that "Great Island", "is as little long" as "Rowe's Island." It isn't fair to criticise a stranger for miscalling Goat and Rose Islands, but we can not withhold our admiration for the linguistic genius who invented "little long" as a euphemism for "short." This man should not waste his talents on the desert air of a Boston weekly, but should be captured at once by the Philological Society. We hope the attention of Professors Whitney and Max Müller will be promptly called to him.

Newporters will be interested to learn that the breakwater has withstood the "angry billows of ages"; that "a beautiful lighthouse" "lies" at the south end of the harbor and that among other church spires "the most prominent and beautiful is the spire of St. Marie, or St. Mary's Catholic church, standing east and west between 11th and Williams streets," etc. It seems hardly worth while to change the name of Levin street to 11th street, but this is a small matter compared with making St. Mary's spire stand east and west, an event which we hope will never take place.

The correspondent expresses his conviction that the one horse State House is a disgrace to the city and gives the dimensions of Thames street as "about a mile and a half long by 20 feet wide, exclusive of the sidewalks (or paths) which are from 3 to 4 feet, each," and says that Long wharf leads "from the boats to the centre of this ancient city." When the boats are in New York it must strain the wharf awfully to lead from them to the centre of the city. The closing portion of this letter will have to be quoted entire to give the readers an idea of its beauties.

A full account of the Essex and Wilson, and the wife beater, whose wife died in the Mass. Hospital, Boston, partly from injuries received from his abuse, then turned herself and child out of doors. She was sent there to learn to be a nurse by a prominent gentleman of this city (who thought it was a pity to see ("one") the most beautiful "of her sex" "in distress." Look for Essex and Wilson Scandal soon.

If the Express can keep this talented correspondent from attaching himself to one of the prominent New York dailies it will deserve an immense circulation here.

There is no abatement of the famine in Asia Minor. Reports from all sections of the country are most doleful. Many persons have starved to death.

By an agreement between a representative of the Lake Ontario Shore Railroad and Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Company, the latter organization assumes full control and management of affairs of the former, and will hereafter operate the same.

A fire in the village of Butternuts, Otsego county, destroyed the stores of Stockwell & Casse, hardware; G. N. Little, general store; F. Blackman, furniture; W. Smith, jewelry; Wm. Oliver, general store, and D. Gray, groceries. Half the business part of the city is in ashes. The flames were stayed only by tearing down the buildings.

A fire in Cincinnati this afternoon destroyed Sanning's planing mill and Shubert A Theissinger and Egger & Sanning's furniture manufactories, with the stock and material. Sanning's loss is $30,000; insured for $8,500. The furniture manufacturers' loss is $20,000; insured for $2,500. Cook's furniture manufactory adjoining loses $10,000; insured for $5,000.

The sheriff of Athens county, Ohio, having failed to furnish protection to the coal operators at Nelsonville, Logan and Straitsville, against riotous miners: they have appealed to the governor. The rioters parade the streets and threaten all opposed to them. Aldenton, who was killed Saturday, was buried on Sunday, and Myers, who was wounded, will die. The striking miners appear to be well supplied with money, they having drawn $15,000 from a bank in Nelsonville on a draft from Cleveland. They have been told by the miners' union of Mahoning Valley to stand firm, as that union will assess 10,000 miners one dollar per week to assist them. The operators are thinking of closing the mines, and appearances indicate that the strike will last all Summer.

The South Pacific Times of the 21st of April says that the British minister to Chili has made a formal demand for the release of Captain Hyde of the wrecked steamship Tacna, whose arrest has been already reported, and an indemnity of £25,000, or, failing to meet this demand he asks for his passports. It is believed that the British fleet has been ordered to Valparaiso. It is also stated that Mr. Magee, the British vice-consul at San Jose, Guatemala, was recently sentenced to 400 lashes by the commandant of the place. Two hundred were inflicted and the sufferer was left nearly dead. The wretch who ordered the lashes was killed as he was escaping aboard the steamship Arizona.

The members of the second, fifth and sixth army corps at Harrisburg held meetings Tuesday forenoon, and at eleven o'clock a grand procession of the army of the Potomac was formed in front of the capitol and marched to the opera house, Generals Sherman, Sheridan and other distinguished soldiers being in the line. General Hartranft addressed the meeting, after which a poem written by Mr. Rolfe of Pittsburg was read, followed by an oration by Colonel A. W. Norris. The committee of the fifth army corps, appointed at Boston in 1871, reported a memorial to the President and Congress, asking the reopening of the case of its honored commander Fitz John Porter, as a matter of right. The memorial is to be circulated for general signature. A grand reception took place in the governor's mansion tonight after which a banquet of the Army of the Potomac Society followed at the Lochiel House.

Two men were killed at Springfield Tuesday by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. As the 7 o'clock train for that city approached Thompsonville, Conn., an unknown man, to avoid a freight train, stepped directly in front of a passenger train and was instantly killed. About 10 o'clock Francis Leonard, of Newton, superintendent of the Boston Facing Company, was killed in Springfield in almost precisely the same manner. While crossing the railroad track a short distance east of Main street he stepped out of the way of a Boston and Albany train only to get in the way of a freight train backing in. He was knocked down and six cars passed over his body, cutting him nearly in twain. His body terribly mangled, was placed on a mattress and he was taken to the station-house, but he expired just as he reached the door.

A young bachelor, who had been appointed sheriff, was called upon to serve an attachment against a beautiful widow. He accordingly called upon her, and said, "Madam, I have an attachment for you."

The widow blushed, and said that his attachment was reciprocated.

"You don't understand me; you must proceed to court."

"I know it is leap-year, sir; but I prefer you to do the courting."

"Mrs. P——, this no time for trifling; the justice is waiting."

"The justice! why, I prefer a parson."

The latter pay fifty cents a week each to have the square watered in front of their stores and the express wagons prevent the watering carts from fulfilling the contract.

—The funeral of Mrs. Marshall C. Slocum occurred today from Trinity church. The services were of a most impressive character and were conducted by the Rev. Dr. White. Mrs. Slocum was widely known in this city and was respected and loved by all who knew her. Few residents of this place could have been taken away whose loss would have been mourned so sincerely as that of Mrs. Slocum.

—Mark Harrington, of Fort Adams who has deserted several times, cleared himself yesterday from a ball and chain with which he was adorned and came to town. Having a weakness for liquor Mark soon made a remarkable appearance on the street and he was arrested and locked up to await a call from the Fort. This morning, he was sent for and it will doubtless be a long time before he can again breathe the pure air of liberty.

NEWPORT ARTILLERY VETERAN ASSOCIATION.—This organization held a meeting last night and made some changes in the roster. Howard Smith was elected major vice B. W. Colt, declined. George H. Wilson was elected paymaster with the rank of first lieutenant, vice Erastus P. Allan, declined; and the latter was elected fifth sergeant which position he consented to accept. The enormous amount of business connected with the pay department of this organization compelled Mr. Allan to decline the commission offered him. The company will leave here on the 21st at seven o'clock by the steamer Eolus to take part in the Gettysburg gun celebration at Providence. The Redwood band will accompany them. S. D. DeBlois, Solomon T. Hubbard, Francis Stanhope, Erastus P. Allan and Howard Smith were appointed a committee to obtain the assistance of the ladies of Newport and get up a fair for the benefit of the company to be held early in August.

......A despatch from St. Petersburg to the Pall Mall Gazette says that Grand Duke Nicholas, brother of the czar, has been arrested, but on what charge is not known. His house was searched by the police. There is great excitement in St. Petersburg in consequence of the arrest.

......Count Chambord is again attracting attention. He oscillates between Vienna and Frohsdorf. It is asserted that he was lately seen at Versailles, and again, that he had withdrawn to the French frontier. He is altogether, like our American Sanborn, a "man of mystery."

......One of the best utterances made in regard to Hospital Sunday was by Rev. Phillips Brooks at Trinity Church, Boston, that it was not so much the amount to be raised as it was the importance of establishing the vital connection between the church and the hospitals.

......King Coffee Calcali professes to be thoroughly humbled. The latest advices from Cape Coast Castle bring the king's thanks for the release of the Ashantee prisoners, and his assurance of the most complete submission to the British flag and to all the terms of the treaty. The king has again taken up his residence in Coomassie.

......Joseph Arch, it is said, is working himself to death in the cause of the British laboring men. His voice is hollow and his physical weakness painfully evident. On his returning home, recently, from one of his hurrying, speaking, agitating journeys, he had five miles to walk to his own door, and it took him two hours to do it; and his altered appearance naturally excited the concern of his family.

NEW YORK ITEMS.

The produce exchange has approved the position of the employers in the petroleum trade against the coopers' international union. The majority of the society of coopers suspended have work and nearly all the cooperages are closed. The police protect the oil works in Green Point and Long Island City, reported to be threatened by society men.

In the case of John Warren and twenty-eight others against Sheridan Shook, growing out of the collection of taxes on sales of stock by brokers for their own account when Shook was a collector of internal revenue, Judge Woodruff orders judgment for the defendant. An appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. About $200,000 are involved in these cases. In the suit brought by Oeeks & Co, wine importers, against ex-collector Thomas Murphy, to recover alleged excess of duty paid under protest, Judge Shipman directed a verdict for the defendant.

The negotiations for the lease of the Atlantic and Great Western Railway are still incomplete. It is thought that the lease will be ultimately agreed to, and for carrying out this object a lease has been drawn up. It is reported that McHenry left New York for the purpose of making arrangements with Tom Scott, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, as he did not expect the lease of the Erie road would go through. This the officers of the Atlantic and Great Western road deny, although they say that in the event of the present negotiations falling through Scott might take up the Atlantic road.

AMERICAN LOVE OF TITLES.

Some American families who have been thrown upon the shores of plenty by a petrolian wave, or reached affluence through a successful venture in Wall street, on coming to Paris endeavor to establish a social status as expeditiously as they have attained to fortune. It is hardly necessary to say that such an effort is not attended with success. They seem to abandon their home guides in making friends. They do not ask if the people they gather around them are honest and worthy of their confidence. Have they a title? is the question which assumes the importance of Shakespeare's To be or not to be. They do not know, and apparently will never learn, that a title in France signifies absolutely nothing unless there is something behind it—wealth, character, or talent. This is especially the case with the feminine portion of the family, and such is their daily influence on the head of the group, that in the end he is apt to fall into their views. To have in their drawing-room a count is a delight; a marquis, a joy forever.

As there are a number of these who are sadly off for the comforts of life, they are to be had on easy terms—Bohemians of the lazy kind who live from hand to mouth, and who are ready on all occasions to eat a good dinner without possessing the necessary funds to pay for it. There is also a prospect of a rich marriage with one of the young republican women who are infatuated with titles. These are sufficient inducements to the nobles who exist au jour le jour and they become assiduous convives at the American board, and ardent gallants of the daughters of the household. Their treatment of Frenchmen brings a smile to the lips of the man of the world. Count de Nigaud, whose operations on this globe are restricted to those of consumer, is surrounded with attentions, and plain M. Lefort, a worker, and consequently a useful member of society, is neglected; which is the reverse of what takes place in the French house, or indeed, any other in which the inmates have not lost their judgment.

It is worthy of remark that of all the foreign women who come to the French capital, none are so fond of titles as the American women. It has reached such a point that one is tempted to believe that there is a radical defect in the education of our daughters. They look at the glittering nomenclature as Eve gazed on the apple.—[Albert Rhodes, in The Galaxy for May.

SUNDRIES.

Said the good-natured Rev. Dr. Robinson, as he stood looking over the new books one day, "I see you have 'Schem's Statistics of the World; have you 'Ham's Travels in the Deluge?" "No," responded the bookseller, "but we can accommodate you with 'Japhet in Search of his Father.'"

That was a sharp remark of the fellow the other day, who, when asked to renew in a certain insurance office, said; "No sir; I'd rather have my house in ashes in a barrel, wheeling it to the snapballers; for then I should be sure of getting something."—[Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Old Bill Tann, of St. Albans, Vt., was accustomed to insert into his manly form much alcoholic fluid. One Saturday night he was asked how much rum it took to last him over Sunday. He replied that he could do very well on a pint, to keep Sunday as it ought to be kept he wanted a quart.

A building in San Francisco that has five hundred rooms is to have a clock with five hundred dials, a dial for each room; to be operated with compressed air, conducted in pipes all over the building. The clock has been built by the Seth Thomas Clock Company of Connecticut.

A clergyman in Clarinda, Ohio, was away from home when the crusade began. He returned in the evening, and saw his wife standing at the bar of a saloon singing as loud as she could yell. He supposed she was drunk, and, entering the saloon, the tears rolling down his face, he said: "Come home, wife, you have ruined me—drunk—drunk—drunk!"

"Do I understand the counsel for the defendant," asked a very fat judge, "to say that he is about to read his authorities as against the decision just pronounced from the bench?" "By no means," replied the counsel aforesaid: "I was merely going to show to your honor, by a brief passage I was about to read from the book, what an intolerable old fool Blackstone must have been." "Ay! ay!" said the judge, not a little elated.

We may all eat oysters this month, for there is an "R" in it. A "veteran observer" finds that May is only a pet name for Mary, and as there is an R in Mary, it's all right. June and July are now the only proscribed months, August having been brought into line by improving the orthography and spelling it "Orgust."

The Advertiser of Portland, Me., says that recently a person visiting one of the cemeteries, overheard a thrice made widow, not yet old nor homely, who was standing beside three mounds, remark to a gentleman who is known to have been attentive to the widow in her youth: "Joe, you might have been in that row had you possessed a little more courage."

A Corning (Iowa) youth paid his attentions to two young ladies and proposed marriage to both. They found out about it, invited him to the house of one of them and asked him to take a seat between them, which he did, sitting down in a tub of water over which a covering had been nicely spread. He did not stay a great while after that.

A statistical journal records that "the 'reserve' of unmarried women in England between the ages of fifteen and twenty-one is set down by the last census at 1,246,000." Young L. Egible, who is a bachelor and is doing his best to remain so, says this is absurd—unmarried women have no "reserve," and would as soon propose to a fellow as look at him, says Punch.

A performance of educated fleas is at the present time attracting much attention at Berlin. At a recent exhibition, one of the most accomplished of the insects, obeying a sudden impulse of its nature, sprang from the table and took refuge on the person of an illustrious lady. The exhibitor was in despair, as the truant was his best performer, and said he would be ruined unless it could be recovered. The lady good naturedly retired to an adjoining room, and, after a few minutes' absence, returned with the flea between her thumb and forefinger. The exhibitor took it eagerly, gave one look at it, and then, with visible embarrassment, said, "Your Highness will pardon me, but this is not the right flea."

Poisonous Medicines

The theory that the virus of disease can be safely counteracted by doses of poison, is false and dangerous. Within the last twenty-five years not less than a score of virulent poisons have been added to the repository of the medical profession. They are given in small doses, otherwise they would destroy life immediately; but even in minute quantities, they produce ultimately very disastrous effects. It is unwise and unphilosophical to employ, as remedies, powerful and insidious drugs, which, in subjugating one disease, sow the seeds of another still more unmanageable. None of these terrible medicaments operates with as much directness and certainty upon the causes of disease as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic and corrective, without a single deleterious ingredient in its composition. Arsenic and quinia are given for intermittents; bromide of potassium for nervous disorders; strychnine and prussic acid for general debility; mercury, in various forms, for liver complaint; preparations of chloroform and opium for sleeplessness; and yet these deadly drugs do not compare, as specifics for the diseases above enumerated, with that wholesome invigorant and alternative, while they are all so pernicious that it is astonishing any physician should take the responsibility of prescribing them. Let invalids for their own sakes, try the Bitters before they resort to poisons. The relief they will experience from a course of the harmless specific will render a recourse to the unsafe preparations referred to quite unnecessary.

Astral Oil.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

WHAT IS IT? Astral Oil is a derivative of petroleum, produced by a new and improved process of manufacture, which gives it all the good, without any of the objectionable qualities of ordinary refined kerosene. Explosion is guarded against, and families can burn ASTRAL OIL with THE SAME ASSURANCE OF SAFETY AS THEY CAN GAS.

ITS QUALITIES—It is perfectly pure, containing no mixtures or chemicals. It gives a clear, uniform and beautiful light, unequalled even by gas. It is free from objectionable odors. It burns in the ordinary kerosene lamps. It is always uniform in quality.

ITS SAFETY—The Astral Oil may be relied upon as non-explosive and in every way perfectly safe to use. If, while burning, a lamp be upset and broken, the contents will not explode or take fire. It is the safest oil that can be made. Persons once using it will have no other. For sale by Grocers generally. d29

Newport Daily News.

THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1874.

GENERAL NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Southern Floods.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.

The Western rivers generally are falling. Though the Mississippi has risen fifteen inches at St. Louis, it has fallen from Cairo to New Orleans, the fall at Cairo being twenty two inches with the water twelve feet below the flood height of 1871.

FROM NEW YORK.

Fires in Southwestern New York.

NEW YORK, May 13.

A Salamanca letter states that terrible fires have been raging on mountain sides near Jamestown, Carrolton, Olean, Salamanca, and other towns. The fires extend over a wide range of country, penetrating to the timber districts of Erie and Corry, Pa. Several cabins of Alleghany Indians in the woods near Salamanca have been burned; also a large saw mill. Animals are fleeing from the flames. On Sunday citizens of Minetta, Erie county, Pa., turned out from church to keep the flames from burning the village. Unless a heavy rain occurs, there will be a loss of hundreds of thousands of acres of timber.

Collision on the Erie Road.

Two passenger trains on the Erie road were in collision near Buffalo, last evening. One passenger is reported killed and several injured.

The Arkansas Broil.

Little Rock specials state that at noon yesterday Col. White with cavalry went out to capture steamer Robert Semple which was sighted above the State House. Brooks also sent out men. In half an hour firing commenced. The steamer landed at the bridge, the Brooks men boarding her, capturing Gen. Meyer of Baxter's forces, who was on board. Col. Rose sent orders to stop firing, formed one of his companies behind barricades and sent another to the battle field. Brooks's men were in rifle pits and Baxter's small force had been driven over the hill between two railroad buildings.

The forces were about 300 yards apart, Col. Rose and officers rode between them ordering them to cease firing, but no heed was paid to his orders. A force sent to support White fired at Brook's advanced pickets when a company of Brooks' men fired and several fell. An attack on the State House was expected but was not made and White's force moved back to town towards evening. Capt. Grove of Brooks' force was captured. Two men were killed and three wounded. The women and children in town were badly scared as considerable fighting took place in town.

Cannon for Baxter.

A Little Rock dispatch dated 10 o'clock last night, states that fighting had commenced again, stray shots being heard from across the river. Baxter has received two rifled cannon from Texas, and it is reported that they will be turned upon the State House, and it is believed it was to receive these guns that Baxter's troops were sent across the river to meet the train. Speaker Tankesly of the House says he will not preside over the extra session called by Baxter.

Outrage at San Jose, Guatemala.

It is stated that Mr. Magee, British Vice Consul at San Jose, Guatemala, was recently sentenced to four hundred lashes by the commandant of the place. Two hundred were inflicted. The sufferer is nearly dead. The wretch who ordered the lashes was killed as he was escaping aboard steamship Arizona.

A Panama letter gives the details of the terrible flogging of British Vice Consul Magee. It appears that Colonel Gonzales arrested Mr. Moncrief, agent of the steamship company at San Jose but released him retaining Magee who protested against the horror in the name of the British flag. American Consular Agent James, entered a protest just as Magee was about to be flogged. When Gonzales threatened to serve James in the same manner. Four soldiers performed the whipping, two hundred lashes being inflicted, after which Magee was kept over night to receive the remaining two hundred next day and then was to be shot. Mr. Moncrief sent a messenger, to the nearest telegraph station. Gonzales having guarded the telegraph office at San Jose and summoned General Solares with one hundred men from the Capital who arrived the next morning as Magee was about to be again whipped. Gonzales fled to a steamer but as he was getting on board, some one shot him dead in the gangway.

Impending Trouble between Great Britian and Chili.

The South Pacific Times of the 21st of April says the British minister to Chili has made a formal demand for the release of Capt. Hyde, of the wrecked steamship Tacna, whose arrest has already been reported, and an indemnity of £25,000 sterling, or failing to meet the demand, he asks for his passports. It is believed that a British fleet is ordered to Valparaiso.

The Reformed Episcopal Church—the General Council.

The first annual meeting of the second general council of the Reformed Episcopal church was held today. A sermon was preached by Bishop Cheney of Chicago. The meeting was formed by the election of Bishop Cummins as chairman, and Herbert B. Turner secretary. The chairman read a cable despatch from the Free church of England, sending a cordial greeting, and it was resolved to acknowledge its reception in the proper manner. Regular sessions of the council will be held throughout the week.

Annual Meeting of the Home Missionary Society.

The annual meeting of the American Home Missionary Society was held today. The annual report showed that during the past year 969 ministers had been in the service of the societies. The number of congregations and missionary stations supplied in whole or in part was 2195. The number of pupils in the Sabbath schools is 74,700. Fifty seven churches have been organized and thirty five have become self supporting. One hundred and five churches report revivals, and 355 missionaries report 3200 hopeful conversions. Receipts during the year $290,120, and expenditures $287,662. The officers of the preceding year were reelected.

Annual Meeting of the American Tract Society.

The American Tract Society held their forty-ninth annual meeting today. The old officers are reelected, and resolutions adopted providing for the celebration of the jubilee year of the society, by the preparation of a special sermon and historical discourse. The receipts of the society for the year, $552,391, including $391,013 from sales, $148,801 from legacies. Expenses, 551,-515.

Weston's Walk.

Weston continues to walk, somewhat slowly, and it is beginning to be considered doubtful if he can accomplish his 500 miles. It is said that his feet are sore, though otherwise he is in good condition. Up to 10 o'clock he had only completed 228 miles.

The Western Press on the Veto.

CHICAGO, May 13.

The Tribune this morning publishes the replies to a circular sent to the press of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska, asking how each stood on the question of the President's veto of the currency bill. The summary shows of 933 papers answering the circular, 514 sustain the veto, 408 opposed it and 11 are noncommittal. Of those sustaining the veto 295 are Republican and 217 Democratic, and of those opposing the veto 231 Republican to 174 Democratic. Indiana, Missouri, and Kansas are the only states where the majority of the papers oppose the veto.

The Arkansas Legislature in Session at Last.

LITTLE ROCK, May 13.

The legislature tonight appointed a joint committee to prepare resolutions to send to the President in reference to the present difficulties. The House passed resolutions calling on Baxter to state whether or not Brooks complied with his proposition to vacate the State House and leave the legislature to settle the present trouble. Another little skirmish occurred this evening in which two men were wounded. Baxter received several companies of troops this evening; also two pieces of artillery this morning. Matters were rather quiet tonight.

Outrages by the Sioux—A War With the Gros Ventres.

ST. PAUL, MINN., May 13.

Reports from Bismark state that on Wednesday last a battle took place between the Sioux and Gros Ventres at Knife River, 75 miles above Bismark, on the bank of the Missouri. The battle lasted half a day. One party retreated, hotly pursued by the other. About a dozen horses were left on the field. Christopher Weaver, owner of a wood yard between Forts Stephenson and Brethold, was murdered by the Sioux last Monday. Four or five Arickares in the same vicinity were also killed. Preparations are making at Fort Abraham Lincoln, near Bismark, to follow the Indians, if necessary. General Custer's command is preparing to take the war-path.

Meeting of the National G. A. R. Encampment—Election of Officers.

HARRISBURG, May 13.

The eighth annual meeting of the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic met today. Reports of the officers shows a highly gratifying degree of progress throughout the organization. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Commander-in-chief, Charles Devens, jr., of Massachusetts; senior vice commander-in-chief, Edward Jardine of New York; junior vice commander-in-chief, Guy Gould of Illinois; surgeon-general, Dr. Hans Rowell of New York; chaplain-in-chief, Rev. STARTING TOMATO PLANTS.—As some persons may be in the same plight the coming Spring that I was last, as regards knowing how they are to grow a few early tomato plants, and have them stocky and first-class plants in every respect, I will give the details of how I managed to grow a few hundred to my entire satisfaction. I took a small box, twelve by twenty inches, six inches deep, and filled it with good garden soil, and put it on the kitchen stove drum, and let it stay there till the dirt was thoroughly warmed through; then took a stick and made marks an inch apart, four and one-half inches deep in the dirt, crossways of the box; then scattered tomato seeds quite thick along the rows and covered them about one-quarter of an inch deep; then took a newspaper and wet it and covered the box to prevent the dirt from getting dry on top. The box was set on a bench near the stove after the seeds were sown, and the following day set on the stove drum again for the purpose of keeping up the heat in the soil, being careful not to let it get too hot. In forty-eight hours from the time the seeds were sown, they had sprouted, and many had broken the ground; a few were near half an inch high. —[Correspondent Rural New Yorker.

ABOUT GRAFTING.—There are a great many curious facts about vegetable life. We can, for example, graft the apricot on the plum and the peach on the apricot, and the almond on the peach, and thus we may produce a tree with plum roots and almond leaves. The wood however, of the stem will consist of four distinct varieties, though formed from one continuous layer. Below the almond wood and bark we shall have perfect peach wood and bark, then perfect apricot wood and bark, and at the bottom perfect plum wood and bark. In this curious instance we see the intimate correspondence between the bark and the leaf, for if we should remove the almond branches we might cause the several sorts of wood to develop buds and leafy twigs each of its own kind. Each section of the compound stem has its sent of life in the cambium layer, and the cambium of each reproduces cells of its own species out of common nutrient fluid.

THE BRAHMAS AS LAYERS.—Mr. B. N. Pierce of Corning, Iowa, communicates the facts given below: "Desiring to know more of the productive qualities of light Brahmas I made an effort last season to experiment with one pullet, selecting her of a pure brood of last year, and keeping her separated from the others of her variety. She commenced laying on January 12, 1873, and laid 83 eggs before becoming broody; up to this date, August 1, 1873, she has laid 136 eggs. The manner of keeping the record, or count, of the number of eggs laid was to let the last egg remain in the egg basket until the next was brought in and to mark the number of each egg on itself, so that there was no chance for an error. The hen was pure bred, and from one of the leading strains of light Brahmas. She has been in confinement from January 1, except each day since April 1, she has been given her liberty after 3 P. M. and during the whole time she has had but little food. One half bushel of corn and twenty five pounds of wheat screenings, with, now and then bran and shorts mixed, all told, not to exceed one bushel of grain, has been her feed, and would not cost over fifty cents."

REFUSE LEATHER.—Old boots and shoes are manure for vines and trees if cut small and put in the ground where they will keep moist. For other agricultural purposes they act too slowly. If rotted with quicklime or steamed, so as to admit of pulverization, they make a quick fertilizer, but costly to prepare; good wherever nitrogen, of which they contain some five to seven per cent., is serviceable. Bones would be better in the hole, and stable manure or fallen leaves as a mulch.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL Inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." PATENT

PARABOLA SPECTACLES.

Constructed in accordance with the Philosophy of Nature.

ADMIRABLY ADAPTED TO THE ORGAN OF SIGHT, AND AFFORDING ALTOGETHER THE BEST ARTIFICIAL

Help to the Human Vision.

The Parabola Glasses can be used for the greatest length of time, either by day or night, with perfect ease, (when selected to suit the state of the eye,) and never cause that giddiness of the head, or unpleasant sensation to the eyes that many experience from using the common kind, but tend to strengthen and improve the sight.

[From the Rev. Thomas Potter, Norwich Conn.]

Having used a pair of the Parabola Spectacles, I am fully persuaded of their superiority over every other kind, and am confident that the best recommendations are impartial trials. THOMAS POTTER.

[From the Hon. Isaac Hill, late Governor of New Hampshire.]

I have used the Parabola Spectacles for the last three years; and with eyes prematurely injured by severe catarrh for more than forty years, I find them unsurpassed, especially in night reading. ISAAC HILL.

[From M. G. Kerr, M. D., Norristown, Pa.]

I do most willingly bear my testimony in favor of the superiority of the Patent Parabola over all other kinds of Spectacles. They are constructed upon the best established and understood principles of Optics, and their adaptation to the human Eye in its different conditions of vision is so perfect as to render sight easy without effort. In my opinion, none others should be used, since the Eyes once used to these do not seem to grow old, and by having a focus at any point of the surface they appear to restore the eyes to their youthful energy. M. G. KERR, M. D.

[From Isaac Holsler, M. D., Reading, Pa.]

I have for several years worn the Patent Parabola Spectacles, and have found them decidedly superior to the Spectacle glasses heretofore in use.

ISAAC HOLSTER, M. D.

☞Should the focus of these Glasses, after making trial of them, be found not adapted to the sight, purchasers are particularly requested to have them changed until suited.
